BitNami Alfresco Stack Product Key Installation Video: At the BitNami Stacks we recommend installing Alfresco on a VMware VM. We use this approach as we feel it is the easiest way to create an environment that can be used in both development as well as production environments. For the Alfresco Service you will need to install Alfresco version 6.2.x. You should have Java 7 JRE or higher installed in order to run this stack. Download Alfresco and unzip it in your desired folder, for example /opt/alfresco. Update the files in /opt/alfresco/tomcat/webapps/alfresco/WEB-INF/web.xml and /opt/alfresco/tomcat/webapps/alfresco-webscripts/WEB-INF/webscripts.xml. Modify WEB-INF/welcome-page.jsp to point to your preferred website. Then restart the server. Configure a name for this new VM, for example Alfresco. Check the VM is running on VM manager and has the required network settings. Add a host-only network to the VM so you can connect to it through a SSH client. BitNami Stack Updates: The Stacks are automated so that you will always have the latest package available. In addition, you should be able to pull updates as
